FINANCIAL PLANNING AND INVESTMENT FIRM HEFREN-TILLOTSON RELOCATES BUTLER OFFICE

Pittsburgh-based wealth management firm opens larger Butler County location

PITTSBURGH—Hefren-Tillotson, Inc., one of Western Pennsylvania’s largest investment advisory and financial planning firms, has announced it has expanded its presence in Butler County by opening a new office in the Brockley Professional Building, 99 West Sunbury Road in Butler.

Hefren-Tillotson will occupy 8,000 square-feet of the three-story, 20,000 square-foot office building with 19 of the firm’s staff of 256 employed in the new location.

“We are pleased to open a larger office in Butler that will enable us to better serve our existing and future clients where they live and work,” said Kim Tillotson Fleming, Hefren-Tillotson Chief Executive Officer. “Hefren-Tillotson has been part of the Butler community for seventy years with the vision of helping clients and their families navigate their financial future. Creating an expanded office positions us well to build even stronger, deeper relationships with them by having a welcoming door right down the street.”

The Butler office will provide individual investors with diversified financial services including customized financial planning and investment management through Hefren-Tillotson’s comprehensive MASTERPLAN approach. Corporate services will focus on 401(k) retirement plans, financial planning for businesses, executive financial counseling, and fiduciary reviews.

The company will continue to be headquartered in downtown Pittsburgh and maintain its other offices in Pine Township, Southpointe and Greensburg.
